

DIAZ AND HUERTA TO USE MAILED LIST

General Felix Diaz.

Napoleonic methods are to be employed by General Huerta, new president of Mexico, and General Felix Diaz, his associate, in pacifying Mexico. A strong army is to be built up and the rebellions crushed. Whether Felix Diaz, who is a nephew of the former president, gets a governmental position or not, he will be very close to Huerta, and the two will practically be the dictators of the republic.

BASEBALL MEN TO MEET IN BUTTE

W. D. Brown, a member of the board of directors of the Ogden Baseball association, left at 4 o'clock this afternoon for Butte to attend the meeting of representatives from the different teams of the Union association. Mr. Brown went in company with President Hite of the Salt Lake Baseball association.

The meeting, to be held tomorrow afternoon at Butte, was called by President Mulrooney of the Union association for the purpose of arranging a schedule, fixing the price of gate admissions and having the representatives of the teams sign contracts that the salary limit of $1500 will not be violated.

When the schedule has been announced the managers of the different teams will be able to decide upon a date for the calling in of their men.

Manager Kitty Knight of the Ogden team went to the Utah Hot Springs yesterday for the purpose of arranging for spring training quarters at that resort. He was delighted with the accommodations and was pleased to find such a good field.

The Ogden team will play upon the same grounds used 20 years ago for ball playing. The surface is absolutely level and there is not a stone or pebble to affect in any way the batted ball.

LABOR NEWS OF ALL COUNTRIES

A bill has been introduced in the Oklahoma state legislature for the purpose of restricting the hours of labor for women in all vocations to eight hours per day.

Industrial Workers of the World desire that May 1 be observed as Labor day instead of the first Monday in September, the date authorized by the American Federation of Labor.

One of the chief causes of unemployment in England is stated to be the growing substitution of motor for horse drawn traffic, many carmen and horse keepers being thrown out of employment.

There is an arsenic poison menace in 27 different trades, declares Dr. John Andrews, secretary of the American association for labor legislation, and in 138 trades workers are in constant danger of lead poisoning.

In Germany the union of warehousemen, numbering about 3000 members, joined hands with the shop assistants' union on January 1, the membership thereby raising to 20,000.

The United Garment Workers' union will not issue the label to any firm that employs child labor, sends work to the tenement houses, does not pay a living wage and does not furnish good, clean, sanitary shops for its employees.

Sheet metal workers have received notice to the effect that at the next meeting of the international body a move will be made in the direction of establishing a home for superannuated members along the lines of homes established by other crafts.

Print cutters contemplate closer amalgamation with allied trades organizations.

A new union of pressmen was formed in Duluth, Minn., recently.

Fifty thousand children under the age of 16 years are at work in Pennsylvania.

The Association of Iron Molders of Alaska, Scotland and district, have been granted an advance of 25 cents a week, which brings the standard wage up to 18 cents an hour.

DRINK SCOURGE IN FRANCE

Some idea of the appalling ravages made by the drink scourge in present-day France may be formed by the terrible seriousness of statistics showing the relation between alcohol and madness which specialists attached to the principal Paris lunatic asylum have just made public.

These figures reveal that since 1868, when exact records were started, the proportion of male lunatics whose loss of reason is caused by drink has increased from 14 per cent to 47 per cent; while on the female side the percentage has risen from less than 2 per cent to 20.

"Most of these unfortunates," say the authors of the report, "are psychopaths descended from other alcoholics."

The writers conclude with the following statement, which is considered to have a particularly sinister bearing on the population question of the country:

"Of every 1000 children born of alcoholics, about one-third disappear either at birth or in the first two or three years, and among the survivors are a large number of idiots, epileptics, many degenerates devoid of moral sense and instinctively perverse creatures of abnormal impulses."—Paris Cable to Chicago Tribune.

Subordinating the Details of Business

Military history has passed through the stage in which the affairs of a standard-sized army can be controlled in matters of detail, as well as in matters of general plan, by any one person, even though he be an all-around genius. Frederick's kingdom was of such small size that he could keep his fingers upon everything, even the daily culinary arrangements of the royal household. Napoleon, with matchless celerity in work, confessed that he fully controlled his affairs only in the short period of his prime. In war the day of piling up tasks in such an indiscriminate manner at headquarters that only a heaven-sent genius can insure success, passed when the Germans began the application of the principles of administration to military matters.

It is clear that for the lodging of any administrative functions, and the resting of the corresponding responsibility, there must be a certain ideal point in the administrative hierarchy of any organization. This point is where the problem of keeping in touch with the specific details of the agencies of the action controlled, is approximately equal in difficulty to the problem of keeping in touch with the general plan of which that action is a part.

To move a function from this point toward headquarters is to lose touch with specific conditions, to move it closer to the agencies of performance is to lose touch with the general plan.

From the point of view of a superior officer, this shifting of everything to the proper level is the problem of the subordination of detail. The man of capacity often errs by working with energy rather than intelligence; not seeing that efficiency does not mean alone to do a great deal and do it well, but also to be constantly engaged upon tasks of one's caliber.

If an organization is not large enough to keep a man of talent at his maximum work, the permanent solution is not to allow the individual to add lower functions, and shade out the subordinate executives, but to use this surplus talent for attacking the most important difficulties, which restrain growth; so that with the increase in the size of the organization there will come abundance of the proper kind of work. It is undoubtedly a fact that most organizations are in a state of being strangled by unique concentration of work at headquarters, while the subordinate ranks are soldiering. The proper place for delegation, and even leisure, is when the far-reaching decisions are being made.—Edward D. Jones in Engineering Magazine.

DOCTOR ANXIOUS TO SEE PATIENTS

Toronto, Ont., Mar. 14.—Dr. Friedrich F. Friedmann said today that when he returned to New York tomorrow he expected to find a much friendlier attitude on the part of the medical profession toward his treatment for tuberculosis.

"I believe the prejudice which greeted me on my arrival here," said the German specialist, "has been removed. I have been invited to use the facilities of several hospitals and will continue my demonstrations as soon as I return."

Dr. Friedmann said he had received encouraging reports concerning the patients he treated in New York and that he was anxious to see them again. He expected to return to Canada before long, he said, to examine his patients.

JURY STILL OUT ON HYDE MURDER CASE

Kansas City, Mo., Mar. 14.—The jury in the case of Dr. B. Clarke Hyde, on trial a third time charged with the murder of Colonel Thomas H. Swope, millionaire philanthropist, continued its deliberations today. The case was given to the jury at 10 o'clock last night.

At 10:20 o'clock this afternoon Judge Porterfield called the jurors into the courtroom and inquired if they had reached a verdict. Receiving a negative reply they were sent to luncheon and resumed deliberations at 1:30 o'clock.

FRUITGROWERS TO MEET ON SATURDAY

In line with the plans to arouse the interest of fruit growers in a statewide organization, the first of a series of mass meetings to be held throughout the county was held at Clearfield this afternoon. The speakers were C. E. Adams of Upland, Cal., George Romney of Smithfield and W. H. Homer Jr. of Springfield.

A mass meeting will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock in the city hall in this city, where the fruit growers of the surrounding country will be addressed by the same speakers.

In the evening at 7:30 o'clock another meeting will be held in the North Ogden meeting house.

Mr. Adams has had wide experience in California, where the organization of fruit growers is perhaps stronger than in any other place, and he is able to give some strong arguments showing the advisability of forming a state association for marketing fruit.

An urgent invitation has been sent out by the local officers to the fruit raisers of the vicinity and a large attendance is desired.

BURGLAR FOUND IN BARN AT MORGAN

After a search of about four hours, Sheriff E. E. Butters of Morgan county made a clever capture of a burglar at 4 o'clock this morning in a barn at the town of Morgan. The capture not only discloses who burglarized the Francis merchandise store of Morgan, but also a store at Farmington, as the fellow had in his possession certain Canadian coins that were stolen from the Farmington store.

At about 11 o'clock last night the son of Arthur Francis, the Morgan merchant, heard unusual sounds in the store and he proceeded to make an investigation. He took the precaution to carry a revolver. He discovered that the store had been entered and, as young Francis approached, the invader made his getaway through the rear of the store, Francis firing a number of shots.

Sheriff Butters was notified and a search was instituted, the officer's efforts being rewarded this morning when a man, giving his name as G. S. Herbert, was discovered concealed in a barn. The man was shoeless. His shoes were found in the store where he had removed them so to noiselessly rifle the place. Young Francis came upon him so suddenly and so abruptly that he did not undertake to replace his shoes before departing.

When surprised in the store Herbert had already succeeded in getting about $30 from the money drawer and other things in readiness to carry away.

A search of his person disclosed the Canadian coins that had been stolen from a Farmington store Wednesday night. It is likely that Herbert will be brought to Ogden for safekeeping and that the officers of Davis county will file a charge of burglary against him.

Sheriff Butters is in Ogden today conferring with the district attorney regarding the action to be taken.

HIGH SCHOOL IN A SPIRITED DEBATE

The afternoon at the high school after 1:30 o'clock, the time was given over to a spirited debate between two school teams. The subject debated was "Resolved, that the controversy between England and the United States regarding the Panama canal should be settled by The Hague tribunal."

Immediately after the debate was over the seats were removed from the auditorium by the cadets in preparation for their drill to be given tonight.

The exhibition, which is free to the public, will be attended by the board of education in a body and by a delegation from the Weber club, and as a large crowd is expected the students of the school are making every arrangement for the comfort of the visitors.

WOMEN PLAN TO WRECK RESERVOIR

London, March 14.—An alleged suffragette plot to wreck the great new water reservoir at Chingford, in the northeast of London, which King George is to open tomorrow, was frustrated by the arrest this evening of a woman who was concealed in a recess of the works.

She refused to give her name or any other information.

The great reservoir has an area of 416 acres and 4.12 miles of embankment. Its excavation cost over $2,500,000. It is intended to supply about half of London.

SLIDE AT CULEBRA CUT MOVES AGAIN

Panama, Mar. 14.—The slide on the east bank of the Culebra cut, which first moved into the cut on the night of February 5, made another rapid movement downward today toward the canal.

It pushed the bottom of the cut near the center for a distance of 1000 feet to a verified height of thirty feet, destroying five tracks and overturning two steamshovels. There is now only one construction track in operation.

The slide has ceased moving and the work of removing the mass of earth has already begun.

TRANSPORTS WERE BADLY DAMAGED

Athens, Greece, March 14.—The damage done to the Greek transports by the Turkish cruiser Hamedieh on her recent raid along the Adriatic coast was even more serious than at first reported. Four of the Greek transports while landing Serbian troops at San Giovanni di Medua, to aid the Montenegrins in their attack on Scutari, were burned, one was sunk and two others were riddled with shells.

THE HUMAN FLY'S NARROW ESCAPE

New York, Mar. 13.—A steel rocket containing Rodman Law, the "human fly," in which he intends to be shot 3500 feet into the air, descending by a parachute, exploded this afternoon when 500 pounds of powder behind it was fired. Law was hurled twenty-five feet from his seat in the rocket but was unhurt.

Protected by padding and a helmet, Law climbed into the rocket with his parachute and gave the order to fire. The fuse was lighted and spluttered for thirty seconds. There was a burst of flame, a cloud of smoke and a terrific report. Hundreds of spectators straining their eyes for a sight of the great rocket hurtling through the air, saw it leap forward a few feet and burst into fragments.

Law was hurled violently through the air and to the ground. For ten seconds he was unconscious. Then he got up and looked around.

"Damn that thing!" he exclaimed. "I thought I was going up."

Panic spread among the spectators immediately after the explosion. It seemed inconceivable that Law could have escaped being blown to bits, and several women became hysterical. When those who were managing the exploit reached the scene they were surprised to find Law struggling on the ground in the midst of the scaffolding which had supported the rocket. His miraculous escape was explained by the fact that the head of the rocket on which he stood shouldered high in a hollow extension was made of an extra thickness of steel.

The rest of the rocket, six feet in length and two and a half feet in diameter, was blown to atoms.

Law walked unassisted to a nearby house to have his burns dressed. He declared that he would make a second attempt as soon as another rocket could be constructed by the moving picture interest which employed him.

MANY REFUGEES CROSS THE BORDER

Douglas, Ariz., Mar. 14.—Mexican refugees numbering 50 have fled over the border at this point, during the last three weeks, according to the records of the local United States immigration station. Eighty crossed from Sonora points today, the heaviest day on record.

All women are stuck up—judging by the number of pins they use.
